Significant Projects:

Arthistoricum.net and Virtual Catalogue for Art History (VKK). One can link to VKK from arthistoricum.net. The project provides an art historical subject gateway giving seamless access to printed and electronic resources. The specific portals are produced and maintained by different external partners.

Language options: German, French, English

From Rudiger Hoyer:

“...It serves also as a platform for publication and digitization (especially primary sources) as well as for E-learning and thus is a co-operative apparatus for art historical research. For bibliographic needs, arthistoricum.net offers among others: a web directory, a database for articles in online periodicals, new acquisitions list from international art libraries, and access to the ‘Virtual Catalogue for Art History (VKK).’ Detailed information on arthistoricum.net and its future program appears in Art Libraries Journal vol. 32 (2007), no. 1. arthistoricum.net is open for international co-operation.”
